“ We had the honor and privilege to know Delphia and work with him for many years. he was a true gentleman in all aspects, a hard working man; knowing only one way of doing things...the right way and only to stop when the job was completed.

Delphia was a truck driver. Not what todays portrayal of what a truck driver is; Delphia was a truck driver that songs were written about. He cared about the motorist broke down on the side of the highway, the policeman aiding another citizen in some fashion, and of course the company he worked for. His complete profile was on display every day just by the way he carried himself. We were so glad to see Delphia find the "love of his life" Vicki. He went through some dark days but I believe he would tell you...it was worth the struggles. It is selfishly sad to say we cannot have him here with us but, we prefer to be grateful that our paths did cross and was able to walk together in life for a time.

Delphia will be missed by so many but it is a comfort to know that we will meet again in Heaven, and we look forward to that... log books aren't required in Heaven Cowboy. Keep on truckin til we meet again....

“ Delphine came into my life when I was in Jr High School in 1971. He just married my sister, Judy. He always treated me with respect and not as a little kid. After all these years, I remember how he reached out to this kid and tried to include me in things he would do. His family was just as accepting -- wonderful people. They were always warm and hospitable. As I've grown older, I've wanted so much to let them know how much I appreciated them all. May God bless their family in their time of loss. Terry Durrett
