“ I'd give anything to get one more I love you from you and one more hug from you. I love you dad and I miss you like crazy. I thought I could prepare myself for this day. I know now that I can not. Grief is shattering me to the depths of my soul and beyond. My heart will never be the same without you. I love you always. I will hold you in my heart forever and beyond. A piece of me went with you when you left. Who am I kidding.. a lot of my pieces went with you because I am your tomboy, your chubbo, your hard headed stubborn child and the only one that stayed by your side and loved you with everything within me and more. I am so much like you & probably more than you even know and I wouldn't change any of me because I was made with love by you. Thank you dad for loving me without fail. I wouldn't change a thing that you instilled in me. I will be with you again one day dad I just know it. You can take the boy out of the country but you can't take the country out of the boy. Rest easy Cowboy and fly high for your work here on earth is done. I love you daddy. Til we meet again...
