The first time I met Justin was after he had suffered a loss in his family and wanted a memorial tattoo.

He had a warm heart and felt the way family should.

He always talked about Mahaylee and how proud he was of her.

Before he proposed to April he was nervous and I asked him why. It was because there was so much love and he wanted her to be happy. Then the girls filled their life with laughter and chaos.

His girls is how he referred to April and their three daughters.

Justin will always be missed but he shines on us all with love and light. 🙏
