“Mary’s family is in my thoughts and prayers. I know Lynn and Brian, as well as the rest of their family, are missing her. She was always giving you a smile and laughing with you. I will miss my BFF (Best Friend Forever).”

Mary and I have been Friends since first grade which was over 63 years ago. She would come over to play dolls with me when I was at my Granny Gertie’s house. We took a giant cable holder in a neighbor’s yard and made us a teeter totter. That didn’t last long though because I pinched my leg on it. She would trade me lipstick for doll clothes that my Granny King and I had made together on an old Singer sewing machine. After each of us got married and moved away we kept in touch with each other for 55 years. No matter which city, which state or how many miles we lived from each other we had each other’s address. We wrote letters and sent cards for Birthdays and Christmas (we didn’t have email back then). We had each other’s telephone number when we had a telephone (we didn’t have cell phones). We didn’t talk to each other very often because we had to pay for phone calls back then. We didn’t have Facebook or Messenger. We knew each other’s kids’ birthdays and how old they were. Sometimes we mailed each other photos of our family. When we lived close enough we would go to see each other or meet somewhere. After our kids were grown when Mary was driving by close to where I lived, she would come by and we would stay up all night talking even if I had to go to work the next morning. We were never together long enough to know if we would run out of things to catch up on. We even talked all night through a thunderstorm with hail hitting the roof. We didn’t even pay any attention to it. Catching up was more important. It wasn’t until after daylight that we found out that the hail had cracked my windshield. It didn’t matter if we hadn’t seen each other in a long time we would just pick up talking and sharing just like we had seen each other recently. We were 2 of the 4 Musketeers and she was my best Friend. I will miss her, talking, sharing, confiding to each other, and laughing together. But I know we will see each other again in Heaven where we will Praise and Worship our Lord and Savior,

Jesus Christ, forever and ever. She got there a little while before me but I know she is waiting there.
